Generation Cyber: we want to hear from you!

<https://www.surveymonkey.co.uk/r/NCCcyberawareness>

How do different generations feel about online safety? And how easy is it for people of all ages to access the advice and information they need?

As part of our Generation Cyber campaign, we want to make cyber security advice and information more accessible for all.

And we want your view! Whether you're technology reluctant, an avid user of multiple devices, or try to limit your screen time, we want to understand how people of all ages feel about online safety to enable us to provide more tailored educational content and insights from our experts.

Our short, anonymous survey takes just five minutes to fill out, and you have until 21 September to have your say - so click below to tell us what you think.
